Injury stops final early

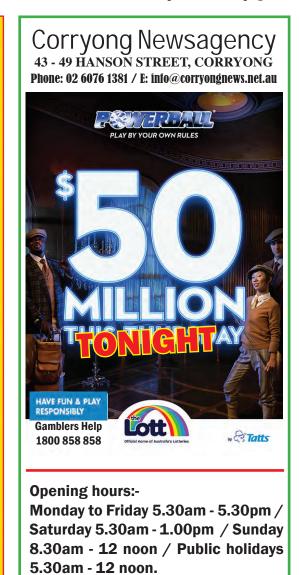

Tumbarumba footballer, Steve Senior, spent Saturday night in hospital with a severe concussion after being involved in a marking contest in the last quarter of the preliminary final against Cudgewa. Play was stopped and when an ambulance was called the umpires declared the match over and the scores at that point were declared the final result - Cudgewa 18.8 (116) d Tumbarumba 5.6 (36). Bottoms up for the final time

Wendy and Pockets relax on their last night as mine hosts at the Bottom Pub.

As they closed the doors for the last time on Tuesday it was a sad but memorable occasion for Corryong Hotel Motel publicans Wendy Kirley Peter 'Pockets' Kasuba.

The couple had a rocky start to their venture, taking over the lease of the 'Bottom Pub' in September 2020 during the pandemic restrictions but they have since developed the business and clientele.

"Running a hotel that was the first building in Corryong is definitely a time of your life to remember," Wendy said.

"With up to 20 staff in the busiest times of the year it has been an enjoyable but at times tough gig but we have loved every in the beautiful township of Corryong.

"Keeping the hard workers and training staff was always a challenge but once you achieve this it makes the running process a whole lot easier with a team you can trust," Wendy said.

The cornerstone of their success has beeen serving consistently good food with a changing specials board which keeps the patrons happy.

"It's always great to have a good chat with minute of being publicans customers from behind the bar too," Pockets added.

Providing live music including Wendy's popular karaoke nights has also been a huge hit with locals.

The couple have also been great supporters of local charity appeals, particularly for brain cancer research.

"We would like to thank everyone who has supported our business in any way and we would especially like to thank the wonderful staff we have had over the years,"

Farmers deliver blunt message

"The survey results should be a 'wake up' call for genuine engagement and discussion farmers and communities," Hosking added.

"Farmers and our communities regional have sent a blunt message that they aren't being listened to and have lost faith that our Victorian government has their back," Mr Hosking said.

massive "From increases to the Emergency Services and Volunteers Fund, roads literally falling apart and communities being steamrolled in the face of renewable energy infrastructure. farmers have a lot to worry about.

"More than 92 per cent of farmers don't believe the government understands or is even listening to the concerns of farming communities. That's a massive indictment and it must change, because they've lost the trust of these farming communities."

Despite the blunt results of the survey, Mr Hosking said there remains considerable opportunity and a bright outlook for Victorian agriculture.

"Victorian farmers are the best in the nation at what they do," he said.

"We produce 25 per cent of Australia's food and fibre value using just three per cent of Australia's farmland. We employ more than 150 thousand people and contribute more than $20 billion to Victoria's and Australia's economy.

"When we have the nation's best farmers working on the nation's best farmland, imagine what we could achieve if our Victorian and Australian governments supported our farmers to achieve even more.

"We're just over 12 months from the next state election. We want to support all sides of politics to get solutions to these issues and grow Victoria's farming future," Mr Hosking said.

There will be more than two to tango

Everything is in readiness for the Snowy Mountain Tango Festival this weekend.

The now annual event offers plenty of options for locals to enjoy and participate in some form, even those who do not want to dance.

The excitement has ramped up at schools as kids participated in a visual arts competition and the winners will be revealed during the weekend. Preschoolers also contributed through a special creation that will be displayed at the Arts Exhibition.

Activities include a tango introduction class for those who are not sure about dancing for the whole weekend but still want to try it. It is also the first step of a series of workshops throughout the weekend for people who want to learn the basics of Argentine tango dance - and locals get a special discount for the weekend (RSL Hall, Friday at Another highlight will be a concert featuring the exclusive collaboration of Cuarteto ExTango, four of the best tango musicians in Australia. An appreciation for good instrumental music is all that is needed to enjoy such a talented group of musicians. You don't need to be a tango dancer Memorial Hall, Saturday at 8pm).

The Arts Exhibition will feature works from local artists and from the winners of the visual arts competition around the theme of tango. The exhibition is sponsored by the Man From Snowy River Bush Festival and the competition is sponsored by a long list of donors including Border Arts Supplies, the Corryong Barber Shop, Corryong Newsagency, Monumental Ice Cream, Top of Town Takeaway and Who What Why (RSL Hall, Friday 6.30-8.00pm, Saturday 10am-4pm, Sunday 10am-12.30pm).

The festival is also an opportunity to try Asado or barbecue, to experience another aspect of Argentinian culture. (Towong Hall, Sunday, 1pm).

Park blitz gets underway

The group's first working bee was faced with a jungle.

This week the Playles Hill Project Group is undertaking a planting exercise in various areas of the park.

It will be planting approximately 1,000 native tube stock plants and 100 Banksia canei (the local species that became extinct in the 2019-20 Black Summer bushfires).

Anyone who has a spare couple of hours or days, to lend a hand would be greatly appreciated.

The planting areas in the park vary and some are steep and rocky so wear suitable clothing and good footwear. Bring gloves, hat, water bottle, hot drink and morning tea / lunch

Health pact reduces barriers

Health(AWH)ispartnering with Gateway Health to deliver and expand Paramedic Community at Clinic (CP@clinic), an innovative program already improving health outcomes for people in regional and rural communities.

Aimed at reducing barriers for health vulnerable disadvantaged groups, CP@clinic offers free drop-in community clinics led by paramedics which provide health screening, education and referrals to other services.

The globally renowned program was introduced to the region by Gateway Health and currently operates in Corryong, Chiltern, Wodonga and Wangaratta where it has delivered more than 160 clinics and over 1,000 health assessments since commencing in March 2024.

Building on success, AWH Gateway Health will launch a six-month pilot from 8 September, with AWH's Aged Services Emergency Team actively involved in service delivery.

With AWH's support, CP@clinic will expand new locations, including across the border into New South Wales.

Currently, community members can work experienced with clinicians to complete health assessments and screenings (e.g. blood pressure, diabetes, walking tests), receive advice and support for managing chronic conditions, ask questions about their health and review medications, set and track personal health goals and be connected to GPs, mental health services and local community supports.

The partnership will place a stronger focus on social prescribing, which means connecting people not only to medical care but also to local community groups, supports and activities that can make a meaningful difference to their health and wellbeing.

AWH CEO, Appleby, said the agreement will strengthen CP@clinic's reach and impact ensuring more communities benefit from accessible, preventative care close to home.

"At its core, CP@clinic empowers people to take charge of their health and connects them to care and community before a crisis occurs," he said.

"By scaling program alongside Gateway Health, we can expand CP@clinic to more communities, provide timely care, ease pressure on emergency and ambulance services and ensure the most vulnerable in our region have equitable access to care and support.

partnership "This demonstrates the power of collaboration across our region while also advancing the kinds of innovative, preventative models of care that are essential to strengthening our health system for the future.".

Trent Dean, CEO Gateway Health, said "By supporting the CP@clinic trial and involving the Aged Services Emergency Team in service delivery, Albury Wodonga Health is strengthening preventative health care across north east Victoria and southern NSW.

"This partnership allows us to reach some of the most marginalised in our community, reduce preventable hospital presentations and help people remain well and supported at home.

"It is a powerful example of what can be achieved when health services work together and lead with heart.'

Supporting OUR COMMUNITIES

Work is powering ahead at Snowy 2.0 - Australia's largest renewable energy project.

You'll start to notice more heavy vehicles heading towards the Snowy Mountains from August as we build one of the most complex and challenging feats of engineering in the world, which will underpin Australia's clean energy transition.

Snowy 2.0's Chief Delivery Officer, Dave Evans, said safety is always our number one priority while building Snowy 2.0, for our people, and road users alike.

"Our roads are shared by residents, tourists, and trucks delivering massive pieces of equipment to our remote sites. Transport for oversize and over-mass equipment will mostly take place at night to avoid disruption for people travelling around the Snowy Mountains."

Truck movements have been planned and coordinated with NSW Police and Transport for NSW.

Please remember, if you're driving behind a heavy vehicle, give it space. It's important to stay out of their blind spots and keep in mind – if you can't see their mirrors, they can't see you.

For the latest traffic information, scan the QR code or call our 24/7 project info line on 1800 766 992.

FAREWELL TO A SNOWY VETERAN

After more than 40 years shaping Australia's energy landscape, Snowy Hydro's Chief Operating Officer, Roger Whitby is retiring.

His career began in 1984 when he was employed as an investigations engineer, tackling the challenges left over from the construction of the original Scheme. He never imagined that he would lead Snowy's operations.

"The young Roger back then was a deeply focussed technical engineer and I really didn't have an inkling, or a focus on people management or the broader business," reflected Roger.

"The young Roger would have been incredibly surprised."

Looking back on his career, Roger said his focus began to shift to the broader business when he realised that great achievements require a dedicated team and that the true magic of Snowy isn't just its how it generates energy, but in the knowledge, care and commitment of its people.

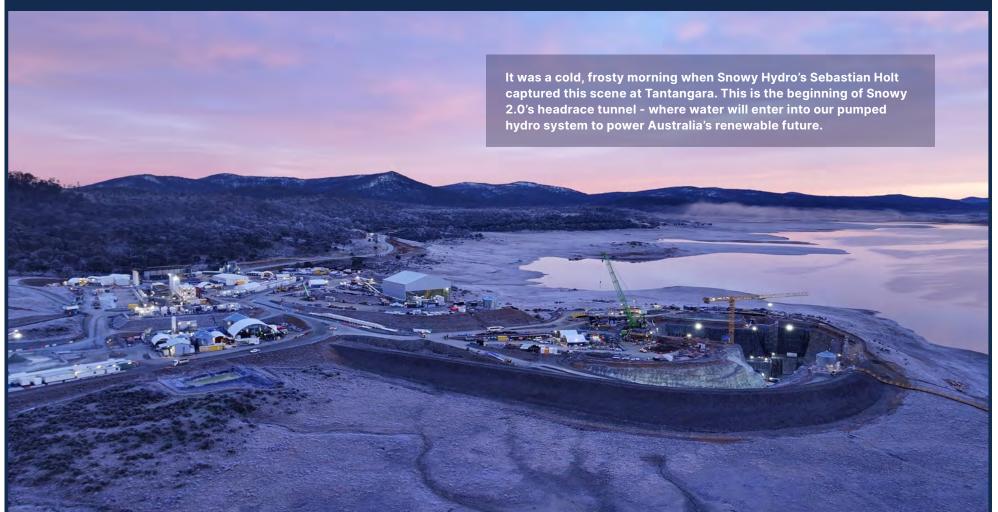

Today, Roger leaves a lasting legacy not only on us, but Australia's energy industry and our transition to a clean energy future. Which, in large part are thanks to two of his most notable achievements – involvement in the design of our national electricity market and his pivotal role in getting Snowy 2.0 off the ground.

As he looks forward to spending more time on his farm with family, Roger leaves behind a legacy of innovation and a company well-positioned to power Australia's future. We thank him for his incredible contribution.

SNOWY EMPOWERS FIRST NATIONS YOUNG PEOPLE

Since 2018, Snowy Hydro and the Clontarf Foundation have partnered to empower local First Nations young people in the Snowy Valleys region, and help create pathways from the classroom to meaningful careers.

Through Clontarf, young indigenous men are equipped with the skills and strength to thrive in school, work, and life.

Over the years, Snowy has proudly donated more than $1.6 million to the local Clontarf academy in Tumut to support this essential work in the community.

However, Snowy's relationship with Clontarf is about more than just funding. Snowy's Head of Social Impact and Community, Sarah Norris, said it provides the team at Snowy with valuable activities outside of work.

"Our team can work with these kids to share their knowledge, expertise and provide mentorship. The feedback from our team is that it has made their lives so much richer by being involved."

FUNDING BOOST FOR LOCAL COMMUNITIES

Communities organisations across the region have received some much needed funding, with Snowy Hydro's Community Grants Program injecting over $200,000 into 40 different local projects.

This funding will help a wide range of initiatives, from supporting the annual Adaminaby Races to providing wilderness first aid training for the Rotary Club of Tumbarumba, and even creating a dedicated group study area for university students in Corryong.

The program received an impressive 115 applications, highlighting the strong community drive for meaningful local initiatives.

Sarah Norris, Snowy Hydro's Head of Social Impact and Community, was impressed with the quality of the applications and said it was fantastic to see such a wide variety of community initiatives.

"It has been great to see the high calibre applications for Snowy Hydro's Community Grants Program. These diverse, community-driven activities support education, sustainability and local capacity building, reflecting our commitment to regional excellence."

Snowy Hydro opens applications for these grants twice yearly, with the funding making a real difference in local towns.

Upper Murray Sport (cont.) Bulldogs make it a double

The Upper Murray Football Netball League Presentation Night on Saturday was a triumph for the Brunnenmeyer family with Bullioh's senior football coach Clint and his wife, A grade netballer Bridget, taking home the respective best and fairest awards.

The Bulldogs' mentor made it an unprecedented double as the oldest player to win the award at the age of 41 and also to win with the lowest number of votes.

Brunnenmyer polled nine votes and held off the chasing pack ahead of Tumbarumba's Fynn De Bono and Cudgewa dynamo Darcy McKimmie, who had posted eight votes before his season ended with a leg injury in round six.

Demons Den:-

Netballers shooting for a flag treble

The Demons are set for a big grand final day with three netball sides (A, C & D grades) and two junior football teams making the deciders.

Netball

D Grade:- What a show the girls put on They had a cracking game against Bullioh.

After being five goals down at quarter time, they fought back hard in the second quarter to close the margin to just one.

By the third quarter, the girls had turned it around, finishing five goals up and they carried that momentum through to the end to take a strong 25-20 win.

They never let the pressure get to them and I am beyond proud of the effort and determination they showed on court. Amazing work ladies.

C Grade:- The girls sealed the prelim final game with a win against Tumbarumba 31-21.

We came into the game with lots of built-up nerves and that showed in the first quarter. Luckily, we were always in front with the score and when we found our groove, we were unstoppable.

All the ladies worked well together individually, fought hard in tough scenarios, never letting their head drop and we even managed to have a few funny moments to lighten the mood in the game and keep the energy

I am so proud of these ladies for working so hard to get to the grand final.

Welaregang

The final round of the prestigious Phil Cribb Trophy looked like a battle between Jono Lebner and Lance Noonan. The pair carded 34 and 32 points respectively but two wipeout holes each cost them dearly.

In the comeback of the season, little Kenny Lebner stormed home with a very handy 39 points to take his total to 101, one clear of the two favorites.

Paul Land returned to form with a solid 35 points to take second on the day and along with the winner,

Upper Murray Sport Blues shoot for two flags

Cudgewa shooter Pip Brown creates a path for Marlie McLean to take the grab.

As expected, both clubs provide the bulk of representatives in the league's Team of the Year (Cudgewa 9 and Bullioh 7) which reflects how evenly matched they are.

The deciding factor on Saturday is which midfield will get on top with a leaning towards the Blues who boast the likes of inspirational captain Mitch Pynappels, Dylan Haycraft, Craig Lieschke, Jack Ross and Jake Vinge who can all rotate through the middle although they will miss the class of best and fairest runner-up Darcy McKimmie who has not recovered from a leg injury sustained in round six.

If the Blues' runners get first use of the Sherrin their dangerous attack could get off the chain and post a handy lead early.

However, the Dogs will stick to the formula that has seen them overhaul Cudgewa in four of their previous five encounters this season, raising questions about the Blues' ability to run out tight games.

Cudgewa coach, Josh Bartel, was unsure what effect last Saturday's shortened game would have but said he would have preferred to get some more miles into the legs of everal players returning from injury in the past couple of weeks.

The wildcard will be the weather with more rain forecast today and tomorrow and around 8mm on Saturday.

In what could turn out to be a real slog, Cudgewa has the seasoned players to get the Blues over the line by a small margin.

In A grade netball, somewhat surprisingly, Corryong has opportunity to win its first ever premiership.

The Demons ambushed previously unbeaten Cudgewa in the 2nd semifinal by seven goals and will go into this week's game with confidence.

A number of Blues' players have been carrying niggles in recent weeks but their versatility has stood them in good stead throughout the season.

Corryong's attacking duo of Tahnee Thorpe and Meg Greenhill have been gelling well and will give the Blues' defenders problems but Cudgewa's attack is equally as formidable with Harriet Mackinnon and Marlie McLean providing the firepower. The conditions may influence the outcome and with a maiden premiership at stake, the Demons might be more desperate in a tough contest.

Blues get fast track into decider

Cudgewa advanced to the grand final for another crack at Bullioh after defeating Tumbarumba by 80 points in Saturday's preliminary final, albeit in unusual circumstances.

The match was halted with 22 minutes to go in the last quarter when player, Steve Senior, was severely concussed after being involved in a marking contest.

umpires stopped play while the unconscious player was attended by medical staff from both clubs but after an ambulance was called, they called an end to the match, with the score at the time standing as the final result.

After a competitive first quarter, the Blues midfield hit its straps with Dylan Haycraft, Mitch Pynappels and Craig Lieschke finding plenty of the Sherrin to fire it into their forward line where leading goalkicker John Spencer worked over the Roos' defence for five goals while eight of his teammates also hit the scoreboard.

Conversely, the Blues' defence totally blanketed the opposing attack to restrict the Roos to five goals by three quarter

The Blues led by 62 points at that stage and after booting three majors in less than ten minutes in the last term, a shellacking was on the cards until the match was ended early.

In A grade netball, Cudgewa ensured it made the decider with a comprehensive 30 goal victory over Tumbarumba.

The Blues controlled play for the majority of the game, applying pressure to force turnovers and then firing the ball into the forward arc where their four rotating shooters scored at 100 per cent accuracy to record a solid win.

Grand Final

From the first bounce this season, Bullioh and Cudgewa have proved to be the superior teams in the competition which sets up an absorbing grand final at the Dogs' home ground on Saturday.

Bullioh had the Blues' measure in the 2nd semifinal, kicking away for a 22-point win, the biggest margin between the sides in 2025.

Prior to that, the record stood at two apiece and the biggest winning margin was 14 points the Dogs' way in the last home and away round.

Only two points separated the pair in the first two encounters with one win each while the Blues won the round eight clash by nine points.

Both teams have potent forward lines led by century-kicker John Spencer and Ben Hall for the Blues while the Dogs will rely on Ash Murray for the majority of their goals with Clint Brunnenmyer, Nash Macaulay and Aiden Heinrich capable of chiming in with majors.

Don't turn a blind eye to Pinkeye Prevention!

Pre Order In Store.

Vaccinate cattle against Pinkeye now!

Pinkeye is a very contagious, painful and complex condition found in cattle. With a season of good rain and pasture growth, we are looking at a bumper fly season therefore Pinkeye will be a great concern for many producers in the Upper Murray districts.

The effects of pinkeye:

- Extreme pain and distress to the animal
- Weight loss or a reduction in daily weight gains
- Decline in appetite and overall production
 Stress and labour costs for farm owners/managers
- Significant treatment costs and antibiotic usage
 Cattle rejected (eg. Feedlots, saleyards & export)

Coopers® Piliguard is the only registered Pinkeye vaccine available. Pinkeye season is fast approaching - prevention is better than cure.
