Budget boosts bulk billing benefits for the bush

The Australian government is introducing a new, progressive bulk billing incentive schedule which will contribute to the viability of Corryong Health and assist in the recruitment and retention of its doctors.

The government is investing more than $65 million from 1 January, 2022 to boost bulk billing rebates and provide more affordable healthcare for patients in regional, rural and remote areas.

The initiative increases the value of the Rural Bulk

Billing Incentive (RBBI) based on remoteness and is designed to enhance the financial viability of practices in rural and remote areas such as Corryong, as well as reducing the gap paid by patients.

The more remote the area based on the Modified Monash model (MM), the greater the incentive payment they will receive per eligible consultation to recognise the greater challenges and cost pressures.

Federal Regional

Health Minister, Mark Coulton, said the government is delivering the rural bulk billing incentives in recognition of the ongoing need to provide the right inducements for the health workforce in rural, regional and remote areas.

"Australians in these areas have poorer access to and use of health services, compared to people living in metropolitan areas," Minister Coulton said.

"The new Rural Bulk Billing Incentive will support those GPs providing services to people in greatest need and who have the lowest propensity to pay for healthcare.

"The government understands GPs face greater health complexities and challenges in rural and remote areas, which is why more than 12,000 rural and remote doctors will be eligible for the higher bulk billing incentive.

"Doctors in the bush face a greater burden of responsibility, more complex care situations, and high rates of chronic disease compared with doctors in the cities," he said.

The recently reformed 1st Corryong Scouts group has received a boost for its activities from the Commonwealth Bank Corryong branch employees, who have donated $500 as part of a nationwide community support program.

“At Commonwealth Bank, our people are committed to driving positive change within their communities to make a difference locally and for all Australians,” said branch manager, Jennifer Bissett.

Commonwealth Bank has again pledged to donate $500,000 nationally, to recognise organisations that make a difference in the communities in which they operate. Each Commonwealth Bank branch and customer-facing team has been allocated $500 to donate to causes important to their local community.

“The Corryong branch team voted to support the great work of 1st Corryong Scouts,” Jennifer said.

“We see it as a great opportunity to assist the reformed Scouts group, it’s timely to give back to local organisations who do good work in our community.

“In particular, we are impressed with how the 1st Corryong Scouts is committed to the education and well-being of our youngest members of our community, so it’s great to be able to support them in this great work.”

Assistant Group Leader and Joey Scout Leader, Samantha Byatt, thanked the bank for their donation and said the money would go towards the purchase of new equipment.

The group has been meeting at the Memorial Hall and hopes to relocate to the former Scout Hall in Corryong in the near future.

Locals have their say at community workshops

Last Wednesday, Corryong community members shared their ideas and aspirations for the future of Towong Shire at a Community Workshop hosted by the Council (pictured).

Feedback received from community workshops across the shire will form the basis of a new Community Vision and four-year Council Plan, outlining the council's major priorities for its new term.

The Corryong workshop was attended by Towong CEO Juliana Phelps, Deputy Mayor Cr Peter Dikschei and Cr Andrew Whitehead, along with 18 members of the community.

"Hosted by an independent facilitator, the hands-on session proved to be very productive and insightful for both council staff and community members," Cr Dikschei said.

"Key themes discussed included the need for childcare and early years education options in Corryong, housing affordability and availability challenges, planning and land management processes and much more."

Cr Dikschei thanked the community members who made the time to come along and voice their ideas for the future of Towong Shire.

"It was great to see the session attended by such passionate and engaged Corryong community members," he said.

"We heard what's important to the community and how to overcome some of the challenges faced, not only by the Corryong community but the shire more broadly."

Community Workshops have also been held in Tallangatta, Bellbridge, Mitta Mitta and Walwa over the last two weeks.

The draft Council Plan 2021-2025 will be released for community feedback in September 2021.

Haines seeks budget feedback

Constituents have until Sunday to take part in the Budget Survey launched by Member for Indi, Dr Helen Haines, to have their say on what issues matter most right now.

The survey takes just five minutes to complete and includes questions about the importance of regional infrastructure, aged care, mental health and more.

Dr Haines said the survey was an opportunity for locals to respond to the Federal Budget handed down last week and urged Indi residents to spare some time to have their say.

"People are concerned about trillions of dollars of debt that future generations will repay," she said.

"It's important to hear whether the people of Indi think this is money well spent.

"The budget is the government's big night of spin but what's important to me is what you think.

"It's all well and good for the treasurer to make announcements in Parliament but I want to know if it will make a difference to our lives here in Indi.

"Since 2013 it's been the hallmark of independent MPs in Indi to consult with the community about the budget and whether or not it delivers for the electorate."

"As an independent I listen to my community and put their views first," Dr Haines said.

"These results will help me stick up for the interests of Indi."

You can complete the survey at www.surveymonkey.com/r/indibudgetsurvey2021 or visiting Dr Haines' website www.helenhaines.org.

It will close at 11.59pm on Sunday 23 May, 2021.

The survey is only open to people who live in the electorate of Indi.

Health service will be more viable

Minister for Health and Aged Care, Greg Hunt, said the government was delivering higher bulk billing incentives for rural and remote medical practices, which would reduce out of pocket costs to patients.

"Bulk billing is an important component of the Medicare system and outside metropolitan areas many doctors rely on the additional incentive for each consultation to help make ends meet for their clinics," he said.

"Corryong Health is delighted with this announcement as it directly increases revenue through the Medicare Billing Scheme by up to 70 per cent for bulk billing visits based upon Corryong being in Mixed Monash Rural rating MM 5," said CEO, Dominic Sandilands.

"We operate the Corryong Medical Clinic at a financial loss to ensure affordability to the community for essential medical services. Accessible local medical services reduce the need for people to travel to receive their care and make it more likely for people to seek help when they need it.

"This increase in revenue will contribute to viability of the service, while also providing much needed funds to invest in recruitment and retention strategies for our GP workforce."

Minister Coulton said the new rural bulk billing model not only recognises the work of current rural and remote doctors but will also encourage more doctors to consider a career in rural practice.

"We want to make rural Australia a career destination of choice for aspiring doctors," he said.

The RBBI encourages doctors to offer medical services without out of pocket costs to vulnerable populations including children under 16, senior Australians and concession cardholders.

Landcare grants have opened

Volunteers helping to protect and restore Victoria's land and environment can now apply for a funding boost, thanks to the Victorian government.

Minister for Energy, Environment and Climate Change, Lily D'Ambrosio, has opened the latest round of the Victorian Landcare Grants, with $2.55 million funding available to volunteering groups.

Groups and networks can apply for project grants of up to $30,000 for on-ground works, education and capacity building projects that help to improve Victoria's environment for future generations.

Support grants of up to $500 are also available for new and existing groups and networks to assist with operating costs for Landcare and environmental volunteering across the state.

The funding will be delivered through Victoria's 10 catchment management authorities (CMAs), demonstrating the important environmental outcomes that can be achieved through collaboration between CMAs, environmental groups, local communities, and the government.

North East CMA Chief Executive Officer, Katie Warner, said the grants aimed to fund projects that addressed local, regional and state land and environment priorities.

Ms Warner said they also aimed to sustain Landcare and other environmental volunteer groups and networks by providing support grants, particularly for those groups whose continuing existence would benefit from this support.

"We want to work closely with the Landcare groups and networks within our region to help them to meet land and environment goals that are developed within our communities," she said.

Applications close at 5pm on Wednesday 16 June, 2021.

For more information go to Victorian Landcare Grants (necma.vic.gov.au).

Timber law will provide surety

A government report tabled in the Senate last Thursday that recommends changes to the Regional Forest Agreements framework to give operational certainty that the native forest industry has been crying out for, has been hailed as a milestone by Nationals Senator for Victoria, Bridget McKenzie.

"This follows a controversial ruling of Justice Mortimer which undermined two decades of environmental oversight of forestry operations through Regional Forest Agreements," Senator McKenzie said.

The Senate Environment and Communications Legislation Committee report follows the committee's inquiry on the senator's private bill.

"The government recommendations vindicate the reasons for my bill and the need for urgent action that will give industry certainty following the ambiguity created by Justice Mortimer's ruling in the original case against VicForests by Friends of Leadbeater's Possum," Senator McKenzie said.

"Australia's forestry industries abide by the most stringent environmental standards, set by the Commonwealth and agreed to with the states that have Regional Forest Agreements.

"Green 'lawfare' under the guise of environmental protection is not something I will ever sit back and allow to play out in our courts because when this is allowed to happen, it brings the forestry industry to a grinding halt, costs real jobs and detrimentally impacts regional communities."

"Earlier last week, a full bench of the Federal Court unanimously upheld VicForests' appeal of the ruling, proving the critical need for certainty to be guaranteed through legislation for how the intersection of the EPBC Act and Regional Forest Agreements should be interpreted.

"While VicForests' appeal being upheld by the Federal Court is welcome, it is through legislation that we need to provide the certainty our foresters are desperately seeking.

Funds go to wild dog blueprint

Aerial baiting of wild dogs is currently under review in Victoria.

The Australian government is investing a further $214,500 to continue its support for the implementation of the National Wild Dog Action Plan 2020-2030, through Australian Wool Innovation.

Minister for Agriculture, Drought and Emergency Management, David Littleproud, said the government's latest investment takes its support for the plan to $2.4 million since 2013-14.

"Wild dogs are a huge issue across rural Australia, costing our agricultural sector up to $89 million each year through livestock losses, disease transmission and control costs," Minister Littleproud said.

"The impact of wild dogs is devastating, with farmers and rural communities suffering emotional and financial stress because of wild dog attacks on stock.

"Since 2014, the Australian government has invested more than $60 million to support wild dog management, assisting state and territory governments and land managers to control wild dogs and reduce their impacts on agriculture and the environment.

"This extra funding will help support the ongoing delivery of the plan - an invaluable, evidence-based strategy that provides the blueprint for best practice, humane wild dog management Australia wide.

"This invaluable work is led by the national wild dog management coordinator, Greg Mifsud, with strong support from industry.

"This work guides future national action plans for feral pigs, deer and other pest species," Minister Littleproud said.

"It will ensure that we continue to have a clear, co-ordinated approach to guide farmers, land managers and other stakeholders on the best strategies and most effective control tools to protect our livestock and biodiversity from feral animal pests."

Volunteers met unique challenges

New CFA Chief Officer, Jason Heffernan, has met with hundreds of CFA volunteers and staff members in the North East as he wrapped up the final leg of his regional tour which started in late April.

"The tour allowed me to see the diverse range of environments in the region from grass and farmlands, through to heavy forestry operations, as well as the more urban and metropolitan environments," said CO Heffernan.

On the visit he met with District 24 members including captains of local brigades directly impacted by the 2019/20 bushfires.

"Meeting CFA volunteers has been a top priority of mine since starting in my role on 30 November," he said.

CO Heffernan has lauded CFA members for their contributions to the community as part of National Volunteer Week, which started on Monday.

The recognition comes following a challenging 2020 that saw Victorian volunteers front and centre due to bushfires and a global pandemic response.

CFA has more than 54,000 volunteers across more than 1,200 brigades in Victoria and is one of the world's largest volunteer emergency services.

CO Heffernan, who was a volunteer firefighter himself, said it's an incredibly rewarding experience to give back to your community.

"The diversity of skills and expertise that our volunteers bring to their CFA roles bolsters their brigades and is a significant strength of the

"Our volunteers are tradies, lawyers, nurses and farmers. We're bakers, small or large business owners, and students.

"CFA is also about so much more than just firefighting. With volunteer roles such as community educators, health and safety specialists or financial supporters, we're asking people if they can see themselves at CFA."

More grants on offer to assist recovery

Indi communities still recovering from the Black Summer bushfires will soon have an opportunity to apply for funding under a new grants program from the Australian government.

Nationals Senator, Bridget McKenzie, said the $280 million Black Summer Bushfire Recovery grants program will open mid-2021 to community organisations, businesses and councils in Local Government Areas that were disaster-declared as a result of the 2019-20 bushfires.

"We know recovery takes time and needs to match the pace of communities, so this is a great chance to access funding for priorities such as those in the Upper Murray and Alpine areas," she said.

"While it will still be a month or two before grant guidelines are available, we're getting them on people's radar early so communities can start thinking about local needs and ideas."

Senator McKenzie said the grant criteria and process would be as simple and flexible as possible. While details are still to come, the program is expected to fund a broad range of projects from community wellbeing right through the those that support the recovery of natural and built environments.

Minister for Emergency Management, David Littleproud, said this funding is part of the Australian government's $2 billion National Bushfire Recovery Fund.

The $280 million is made of unspent funds from the National Bushfire Recovery Fund, which had lower than expected take-up for some of the demand-driven programs, plus the previously announced $98.5 million Complementary Projects fund.

Reserves: It was another good win in the conditions and hard tackles and contested footy won it for the boys in the end. Max Houston played another great game and was best on ground and Greg Wheeler cemented his spot at full forward with five goals.

U11s: The team had another great win over a well coached Corryong team. The Blues showed awesome resilience and teamwork under lights and cold conditions. Cudgewa lead from the start with the skilful ruck work of Mac Brindley giving the team first use of the ball allowing the on ballers to dominate.

Cudgewa small forwards McKinley Klippel and Amy Costello rewarded their team's efforts with great goals. The whole team contributed with best being Mac Brindley, James Porter, Jody Pierce and Katie Pierce.

Netball
A Grade: The girls managed a win against Corryong in wet conditions. Jo stepped up to have a crack at shooting with Soph by her side and they had to work hard against a tough defence but proved to be a great combination. Midcourt and defence played well making Corryong work for every goal.

Awards: Maddi Deery, Katherine Breen, Joanne Beirs.

B Grade: The girls adjusted well to the conditionsslowing the game down when needed. Neva had a fantastic game in goals opening the court up assisting with the 46-20 win. Thank you to Maddi Miller for stepping up and Taylor Pynappels for playing with us for the day.

Awards: Neva Attree, Pip Brown, Maddi Miller, Taylor Pynappels.

C Grade: We played a great game and our shooters worked hard against a tough defence shooting our way to a win 30-12. Our mid-court players were strong both attacking and defending and did well in the conditions. Our defenders made the Corryong attackers work very hard with lots of intercepts and pressure. Mug went to Maddi Miller, and other awards went to Tash Tregilgas, Emma Byatt and Hayley McCallum. Thank you to Zoe Jarvis for stepping in to play in defence for us.

D Grade: We had great defence down the court and in the ring with Jasmine Cane totally smashing it in the goal ring.

Awards: Jasmine Cane,

Cudgewa forward, Steve Phibbs, boots the ball into attack despite an attempted spoil from a Demons' player.

Brooke Tregilgas, Sarah Jarvis (mug).

U15s: The first quarter was neck and neck and this made me think that this was going to be our toughest match. The pace was on and everything was moving quickly back and forth.

Then in the second quarter the team settled and took control of the game and started to creep away. By the end of the third quarter we had secured a nice lead.

The twilight conditions were different which the girls adjusted well to and the end result being a fourth win in four games.

A big shoutout to our youngest player Ruby Jean who is playing her first season up a grade and is handling herself well.

U11s: We had a good win 10-4. The greatest part of the game was watching Charlotte Klippel shoot her 1st goal ever! Its moments like that, that make it all worth while fighting for these sports to keep local and available.

To make her goal possible was achieved because of a strong defence and middle. Working the ball spreading out and starting to listen to instructions has helped this little team come together and are starting to work as a fantastic little unit.

D Grade: Bullioh was almighty on the court while Feds' defence was one to be reckoned with. Mariah and Ally worked hard to stop Bullioh while Sandra proved her worth shooting nine goals. Feds did fight hard to keep the ball, however Bullioh were just too strong.

Awards: Mariah Barillaro - Pickled Parrot Providore, Rebecca Creswell - $20 voucher.

C Grade: The ladies worked well this week under the watchful eye of their coach Narelle. A total score of 15 for Feds but Bullioh were just too strong scoring 24. Meg Galbraith and Mia Saxon were both deserving of the awards this week, with Meg working hard in goals and Mia showing her skills in WA and C.

B Grade: The ladies looked strong right from the start with the return of Georgia Bye working with Paige McKimmie in goals making a dynamite team. Mon, Jo, Amy, Emma and Awards: Paula Heaphy - Pickled Parrot, Georgia Bye - $20 club voucher.

A Grade: A fantastic win by our Feds girls and a wonderful game to watch, with the total score being 35 to Bullioh's 33. The return of Sal Findlay was great to see, working hard in defence with Bridget. Amy and Cassie shared centre, both working hard to move the ball throughout the court.

Awards: Bridget Smith - Swans top, Cassie Heaphy - $20 voucher.

Football

Reserves: The game was hot early with both sides going toe to toe in a physical contest. We got within two goals in the third quarter but couldn't quite keep the pressure on enough to keep them coming. Sean Bannon was pivotal throughout, with Jack Daley again proving a handful up forward. Ethan Blissett battled through his biggest challenge to continue his great form, along with Dave Myers and Kai Han who were also notable.

Seniors: Going in against it after some late outs, we felt like we met the challenge in the first half. Tired bodies and a growing injury list left us battling tougher conditions after the main break.

C u d g e w a ' s experienced on ball brigade ran away from the stoppage at will but Jesse Crawford and Jordan Bailey dug deep and defended hard. Evan Nicholas read and delivered the ball with precision across half back and Paddy Riley's form continued to improve with his best game for the club.

The spectacle wasn't much but the game was played in the right spirit and we'll look to make significant improvements before our next test against the best team in the competition.

Road work on Alpine Way from 19 Apr to 30 June

The NSW Government is funding essential maintenance work to provide a stronger, longer lasting and safer road.

Transport for NSW will carry out two slope rehabilitation works on a section of MR677 Alpine Way to provide a stronger road and a smoother ride for motorists. Work will be carried out on a one kilometre section 6.5km south of Khancoban NSW.

How will the work affect you?

The work will involve the use of machinery which generates some noise. We will make every effort to minimise noise by arranging the work in stages at different locations.

Any impact to access to property owners will be contacted and traffic controllers will be in place to guide road users through the work zone.

Traffic changes

There will be some temporary traffic changes to ensure the work zone is safe.

Lane closures and a 40 km/h speed limit will be in place during work hours and may affect travel times. Motorists should allow up to five minutes extra travel time during this work.

Motorists are advised of changed traffic conditions on Alpine Way 6.5km south of Khancoban for two slopes rehabilitation works.

Single lane closures will be in place. Works to be carried out between 8am and 5pm on Monday to Friday and 8am to 1pm on Saturdays, weather permitting.

Traffic control and reduced speed limits of 40 km/h will be in place for the safety of workers and motorists.

Motorists are advised to drive to the conditions, allow up to five minutes extra travel time and, follow the directions of signs and traffic control.

Transport for NSW thanks motorists for their patience during this time. For the latest traffic updates download the Live Traffic NSW App, visit livetraffic.com or call 132 701.

Contact

If you have any questions, please contact our Project Manager, Nathan Anthonipillai on 0455 756 480 or Nathan.Anthonipillai@transport.nsw.gov.au

For more information on our projects, visit roads-maritime.transport.nsw.gov.au
 Thank you for your patience during this important work.

Cudgewa sets the standard

A depleted Corryong team only managed to fire a handful of shots in a one-sided contest on its home deck against Cudgewa on Saturday.

The Blues flew the gates in the first quarter to establish an early six-goal lead with a mobile forward line featuring Kylin Morey and Ben Hall causing the Demons' defence plenty of headaches.

Michael Voigt, Mitch Pynappels and Jake Vinge were taking advantage of Jayden Pryce's dominance in the ruck to constantly pump the ball into attack where Morey helped himself to nine goals, despite carrying a knee injury. Vinge, Hall and JJ

Bone were also prominent with 13 goals between them while Corryong coach, Mitch Harris, kicked his team's solitary major with a big roost from outside the 50m arc in the second term.

Newco along with , Jordan Bailey, Thomas Shanks and Evan Nicholas battled valiantly for the Dees but the Blues juggernaut added another 20 goals to zero in the second half for a monster victory.

Bullioh ensured it stayed in touch with the ladder leaders with a percentage lifting 28 goal rout of the winless Federal outfit.

Co-coach, Kelvin Wallace, was unstoppable in front of the big sticks, kicking seven goals while the usual suspects in Josh Walters, Taylor Fenton and Joel Bannister were big possession getters in the runaway victory.

The Swans were simply outgunned but Marc Gould, Charlie Star and George Galbraith were four-quarter toilers in the loss.

Tumbarumba had the bye.

In A Grade netball, Federals maintained their finals credentials with a last gasp two-goal win over Bullioh, which sits two points ahead of the Swans on the ladder.

Cudgewa remains on top with a 4-0 record after its defeat of Corryong.

This week

Ladder leaders Cudgewa take on the improved Tumbarumba and the Roos will be in the hunt for a long way against a battered opposition but the Blues' depth should get them over the line.

Corryong hosts Bullioh in an important match in the Dees quest for a finals berth and will field a stronger side than in previous weeks but again, depth of class may be enough for the Dogs to get the points.

Blues News

Football

Seniors: It was a comfortable win away and with a near full strength side we started well but with inaccurate kicking and good pressure from Corryong we went into quarter time at 5.8.

A few simple instructions and demands saw the boys kick into gear and come away with a comfortable win.

Best players were Ben Hall, Michael Voigt, Kylin Morey, Robert Phibbs, Jake Vinge and Luke Bloom.
